

Navy Disposable Patient Blanket

Medline's Navy Disposable Patient Blanket, a heat management tool made of 60 per cent recycled material, is designed for clinicians to heat up in a warming cabinet. It retains warmth and body heat, is gentle and non-irritating, yet strong and breathable. The navy color effectively masks stains, enhancing its practicality in a clinical setting. As a single-use item, it minimises the risk of cross-contamination between patients and eliminates the need for and costs of laundry or linen services.

Compared to the original Disposable Patient Blanket, the Navy Disposable Patient Blanket:

50% reduction in plastic waste by packing two blankets per pouch

60% of this blanket is made with recycled materials

Inner layer made with 100% recycled polyester

Packaged in 100% recycled cardboard

Inner layer

Made from 100% recycled, high-quality polyester fluff
