At Medline, we recognise the need to deliver high-quality products at great value, backed by strong Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) credentials. This ESG product insight provides an example of how we support making healthcare more sustainable.

Navy Disposable Patient Blanket

Medline's Navy Disposable Patient Blanket, a heat management tool made of 60 per cent recycled material, is designed for clinicians to heat up in a warming cabinet. It retains warmth and body heat, is gentle and non-irritating, yet strong and breathable. The navy color effectively masks stains, enhancing its practicality in a clinical setting. As a single-use item, it minimises the risk of cross-contamination between patients and eliminates the need for and costs of laundry or linen services.

Compared to the original Disposable Patient Blanket, the Navy Disposable Patient Blanket:
